A One-day Seminar on “Research on food item used to boost the immune system against corona virus” has been organized by the Department of Pharmacy, Avanthi Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Guntapally, 24-07-2021, Dr. Jagadish Kumar, Professor has discussed regarding “Research on food item used to boost the immune system against corona virus” Students got awareness on “Research on food item used to boost the immune system against corona virus”; The nutrients found in the foods we eat are essential for the development and upkeep of our immune systems. Consider the amino acid arginine, for instance. This is necessary for immune cells to produce nitric oxide, a crucial defense chemical against pathogens. Zinc and vitamin A are essential for the immune cells' quick division. By promoting the cell functioning of both immune systems, vitamin C helps to protect the immune system. In a similar vein, vitamin E has been demonstrated to strengthen human and animal immune responses and offer defense against a number of viral illnesses, including the flu, COVID, and the common cold.

Report on event “Research on Irrational use of Antibiotics”

A One-day Seminar on “Research on Irrational use of Antibiotics” has been organized by the Department of Pharmacy, Avanthi Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Gunthapally on 27-10-2021, Mr. Krishnamurthy Naidu, Professor & HOD has discussed regarding “Research on Irrational use of Antibiotics”. Students got awareness on “Research on Irrational use of Antibiotics”; It is necessary for patients to obtain medications that are appropriate for their clinical needs, in doses that suit their unique demands, for a sufficient amount of time, and at the lowest possible cost to the community in order to use drugs rationally. However, using medication without a doctor's prescription is referred to as irrational usage of. Alexander Fleming made the first antibiotic discovery. Due to a lack of drug resistance at the time, many of the microorganisms were susceptible to the antibiotic's early powerful effects against them. These antibiotics are most effective for brief periods of time, but then the irrational usage of these drugs began. The emergence of drug resistance and the failure of medicinal therapy are caused by the excessive use of antibiotics.

Report on event “Research advancements in Liposomes and Niosomes”

A One-day Seminar on “Research advancements in Liposomes and Niosomes” has been organized by the Department of Pharmacy, Avanthi Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Guntapally on 15-06-2022. Dr.V.Prabhakar Reddy has discussed about Research advancements in Liposomes and Niosomes. Students got awareness on Liposomes and Niosomes; phospholipids and non-ionic surfactants, which are the primary components of liposomes and niosomes, respectively, as well as typical additions like cholesterol and diacetyl phosphate, will be thoroughly covered. We will go over a wide range of well-established techniques for creating liposomes and niosomes, with an emphasis on producing and encapsulating food-active substances on a large scale. Building an effective liposomal or niosomal encapsulation system requires a number of critical features, including particle size, dispersion, zeta potential, entrapment efficiency, and release profiles.
